ARCHBISHOP DEDICATES SCHOOL

Christ's Command to 'Teach Little Ones' Is Theme

The central point of interest in Redwood City last Sunday was the dedication of the new Mount Carmel School. The ceremony was introduced by a parade of the uniform teams of the Young Men's Institute and Young Ladies' Institute, boys from St. Joseph's Military Academy at Belmont, a guard of 4th Degree, Knights of Columbus and others.

Archbishop Edward J. Hanna, assisted by Rev. C. E. Kennedy of St. Paul's Church, San Francisco, and Rev. Maurice O'Keefe of Mayfield, officiated, attended by Monsignor Millet and other members of the clergy. Many of the Notre Dame nuns, who will take charge of the school, were present.

After the ceremony of blessing the school, in which the responses were taken up by the Menlo Park Seminary choir, Archbishop Hanna addressed the large group congregated in the school yard:

P. A. Ryan was marshal of the parade, which had a police escort headed by Chief of Police C. L. Collins.

Children of Mount Carmel school joined the parade at Brewster avenue and Clinton street.

Archbishop Hanna was assisted in the regilious ceremonies by Father John Cavanagh, pastor of Mt. Carmel Church, and Fathers William Flanagan and John Kelly.

General George S. Evans Relief Corps presented a flag to the school, through Mrs. A. T. Carolla, who gave it in memory of her grandmother, Mrs. John Kearse, who was largely responsible for the founding of Notre Dame Academy in 1885.

Mrs. Carolla said, in part: "The purpose of every patriotic society is to foster a love for country in the hearts of the young, and to properly and effectively teach respect for the lawfully established authority of the country, and for its symbol, the national flag. General George S. Evans Post, No. 36, Woman's Relief Corps, of Redwood City, is today doing its share towards accomplishing the purpose I have mentioned by the ceremony which is now taking place.

"Years ago, when the Rev. John J. Sullivan of sainted memory was pastor of Mt. Carmel Church and director of Notre Dame Academy, and when I was but four years of age, it was my happy lot and cherished privilege to have raised the flag provided by the relief corps over the old academy building, now only a memory.

"My revered grandmother, Mrs. John Kearse, had made possible first the establishment and later, after the disaster of 1906, the reopening of the academy, and to please her the honor of raising the flag was given to me.

"It now becomes my pleasant duty to present to Notre Dame Academy this glorious banner of freedom, our loved stars and stripes, the gift of the Woman's Relief Corps in memory of my grandmother, and Notre Dame Academy's true friend, Mrs. John Kearse."

Mayor William J. Dusel made a brief talk in behalf of the city, and presented John Francis Neylan, well known San Francisco attorney and regent of the University of California, who delivered an address on patriotism.

Music was provided by St. Patrick's Seminary choir of 32 voices.

The affair was arranged under the direction of Sumner C. Caldwell as general chairman, who was assisted by the following vice chairmen: Paul McCarthy, V. J. Malone, Dan Stafford, Edmund Scott, Paul Madden, Chief of Police Collins, P. A. Ryan, L. W. Jenkins and F. L. Jakubik.

S. F. CLUB WILL HONOR MILLS

Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills will be given a breakfast at the Commercial Club, San Francisco, Saturday morning by the Republicans of the state. Mr. Mills will address the gathering briefly upon the issues of the campaign.

D. E. O'Keefe has been invited to represent San Mateo county at the breakfast.

Mr. Mills has vast holdings in this and San Francisco county. The Mills Airport, located near Millbrae, was given to the City of San Francisco some years ago.

The basis of the vast Mills fortune was at Columbia during the gold excitement in '49, when D. E. O. Mills, grandfather of the treasurer, established a bank in that thriving mining town, now a forgotten village and known as a ghost town. Mills afterwards came to San Francisco and established the Bank of California.

BENEFITS OF CHARTER TOLD

Specific Advantages Outlined in Talk At Atherton

ATHERTON, Oct. 7.—Existing county government in California was called archaic, obsolete, cumbersome and expensive by James B. Howell of Atherton, chairman of the board of freeholders, in a public talk here last night.

As a result, he said, 15 counties in the state are now drafting charters to bring about a change in the form of government outlined for them in 1850.

Two other counties, San Diego and Mendocino, will vote with San Mateo county in November on the proposal to change the governmental set-ups, Howell said.

The speaker declared that governmental costs in the counties of California were constantly increasing, and the $17 per capita cost of 1926 is today $21 per capita.

This condition will continue until the people change the governmental form, he said.

He outlined the benefits to be secured by San Mateo county under the proposed charter, which are:

(1) Segregation of administrative and legislative functions.

(2) Confining of the powers of the board of supervisors to legislative affairs, the administrative affairs to be handled by a couny executive.

(3) Consolidating of all road districts into one, bringing thousands of dollars worth of savings yearly.

(4) Centralizing purchases under the control of the county purchasing agent.

(5) Bringing of fees collected by justices and constables to the county treasury.

(6) Reduction of governmental costs through consolidation and eliminations, such as reducing the number of justices from eight to five.

Howell's talk was one of a series being held over the county.

SPORTSMEN SEEK BASS ON SUNDAY

Members of the Redwood City Sportsmen's Club have been invited by the Redwood City Sea Scouts to go on a bass fishing expedition off Point San Quentin Sunday and according to present plans a capacity crowd of 25 anglers will be on hand for the trip.

Howard C. King, in charge of arrangements for the sportsmen's club, announces that 15 men have already signed up and that there is a scramble for the other 10 places.

The trip will be made in the Sea Scout motor-sailer, with Skipper John Rhoda, Engineer Brenton Werder and the regular scout crew doing the navigating.

Anglers will leave the Redwood City yacht harbor at 3:30 a. m. for a 3½-hour run up the bay, reaching the point about 7 o'clock. It is expected that the boat will tie up here at 8 p. m. on the return.

Sportsmen making the trip will provide their own lunches and tackle. Bait will be provided, and prizes have been posted for the best catches of the day.

ABALONE BAN IS QUESTIONED

Whether the county of San Mateo can close the coast beaches to the commercial abalone fishermen was questioned Monday by District Attorney Edmund Scott's office when the matter was discussed by the board of supervisors.

The matter was brought up at a meeting of the board two weeks ago in an effort to prevent the total disappearance of the abalone from the coast rocks.

Bids Ordered for Hudson St. Bridge; New Law to Control Solicitors in City Offered

Plans and specifications for the new Hudson street bridge, integral part of the Hudson street extension and widening project, were adopted by the city council Monday, on motion of Councilman Henry A. Beeger, seconded by Councilman Robert N. Jones. The bridge is between Madison and Jefferson avenues, and the estimated cost is $3150.

Councilman Jones then moved, and the motion was seconded by Councilman George McNulty, that bids for the bridge be opened at 2 o'clock October 17.

City Engineer C. L. Dimmitt presented the blueprints and specifications, and recommended that hereafter, applicants for plans be required to purchase them for $2.50 to cover the cost of preparation. The council agreed.

An ordinance giving police regulation to solicitors was reintroduced by Councilman Charles Hildebrand and Councilman Charles G. Lambert. This ordinance was presented at the last council meeting, but was not published, because City Attorney Albert Mansfield desired to make several changes in it.

As introduced last night, the ordinance will require solicitors to give their name, residence, purpose of the solicitation, the firm or institution represented, length of time for which the permit is desired, and such other information as the police may want.

Affects All Solicitors

The proposed law affects all persons desiring to sell, or solicit for sale any goods, or persons taking subscriptions for newspapers or magazines, or for any charitable organization or purpose.

A. J. Wenz of Oxford street complained of damage done to his property by flood waters last winter. He requested assistance fom the city in solving the drainage problem in the vicinity of his home. The city engineer was authorized to take such steps as may be necessary to give relief.

The claim of Antonio Lopez against the city for injuries alleged to have been incurred while Lopez was carrying pipe on a city job was denied by the state industrial accident commission. Notice to this effect was contained in a communication to the council read by City Clerk B. E. Myers.

A bond put up by the former Liberty Market on Main street was canceled, at the request of the proprietor.

Poison Oak Complaint

Councilman Paul McCarthy said he had heard complaints about poison oak which is growing on vacant lots in various parts of the residential districts, and the city attorney will investigate the matter to see if there is any ordinance requiring property owners to remove the menace.

At the suggestion of Councilman Jones, the city engineer will replace several street signs in the South Redwood area and along Woodside road, which are now missing.

The council discussed various alleged eyesores in the shape of junk on lots in various parts of the city, and City Health Officer and Building Inspector I. C. Drathman was authorized to do what he could to remedy the situation.

TARIFF VIEW OF PARTIES IMPORTANT

Hawley-Smoot Law Guards State's Products

"The farmers of California should consider the stand of the two major political parties on the matter of the tariff in their consideration of which of the presidential candidates should be supported at the coming election."

This is the statement of C. C. Teague, former member of the federal farm board and president of the California Citrus Growers' Exchange.

"The following paragraph is from the platform adopted by the Democratic national convention:

"'We condemn the Hawley-Smoot tariff law, the prohibitive rates of which have resulted in retaliatory action by more than 40 countries, created international hostilities, destroyed international trade, driven our factories into foreign countries, robbed the American farmer of his foreign markets, and increased his cost of production.'

"But do the farmers of California want to abandon the Hawley-Smoot tariff that gives protection to the following California products: Almonds, grapefruit, lemons, limes, oranges, cherries, prunes, eggs, figs, butter and butter, substitutes, livestock, milk, cream, olives, chickens, ducks, geese, turkeys, rice, lettuce, beans, peas, walnuts, and wool.

"These specific schedules are based on the principle of protecting the American worker and American produce from destructive competition with foreign labor and foreign markets."

Their application in California, not only to the items here mentioned, but to all California products, has preserved this state's basic industries and products, and maintained a standard of living for our people far above that of countries whose chief products are the same as those of California, it is declared.

POLICE HALT STOLEN AUTO

SAN CARLOS, Oct. 5—William B. Kelley, 47, a clerk, was arrested here at 10:45 o'clock last night by Officers Nelson of San Carlos and Rodgers of Belmont, while driving a motor car in a hazardous manner.

The attention of Officer Rodgers was called to the car by Walter B. Kellogg of Redwood City. Kelley, according to Chief of Police Edward Wheeler, had been drinking. His companion was William Winter.

Wheeler turned Kelley over to San Francisco when he received a report that the car had been stolen there.

JOB RELIEF BOND AID URGED

Carl Stoner Chosen To Head Local Committee

Carl B. Stoner, vice-chairman of the committee in charge of unemployment relief in Redwood City since its inception, was unanimously elected chairman to succeed Carl E. Wagner, resigned, at the committee's regular weekly meeting at 2013 Broadway Monday afternoon.

Co-operation of the Redwood City committee in the campaign favoring the passage of the county's $350,000 employment relief bond issue in the November election was solicited by Robert J. Koshland, assistant director of the San Mateo County Committee on Unemployment Relief, which is sponsoring the proposed bond issue.

Need of organized efforts to provide jobs through private sources in addition to those made available by the county was urged by Koshland, who pointed out that unless the jobs created by the proposed bond issue are augmented by employment in the various communities of the county, the relief program for this winter will be inadequate.

Must Be No Let-Up

"Unemployment relief work in each community must not let down on the mere prospect of the passage of the bond issue," Koshland said. "On the other hand, every voter must be impressed with the vital necessity of carrying the relief bonds because they will create jobs for the many persons for whom no work can be obtained despite the intensive efforts of the county and city relief committees.

"There are more than 1500 families in San Mateo county in need of the financial assistance jobs will provide. Our figures show that in Redwood City there are 340 family heads without work; in San Mateo 306; in Burlingame, 285.

"Not only is our problem to find jobs locally for these people and to work for the passage of the bond issue, but the relief organizations, acquainted as they are with the needs, should see to it that a sound program for the expenditure of the proposed bonds is laid out.

Use of Bonds Told

"The county planning commission and the county surveyor have submitted an outline of such a program to the board of supervisors, and a citizens' committee of 100 is being organized to offer suggestions to the end that the work decided on be useful and that insofar as possible the money, if made available, be used for unskilled labor rather than for any great capital investment."

In line with employment provided locally, City Engineer C. L. Dimmitt outlined a tentative plan he suggests as a fair method of distributing jobs on the improvement and extension of the city water system.

Classification of unemployed into three classes—single, those having two dependents, and those having more than two dependents—and the alloting of work to these classes on the respective bases of one day a week, two days a week, and three days a week, is the plan Dimmitt advises.

From the $16,000 budgeted by the city for capital investment in the water system, 10,000 feet of 6-inch pipe and 5000 feet of 4-inch pipe will be laid in extensions and cross-connections, and the work will provide employment over a period of three or four months on the shift plan, Dimmitt announced.

Charles G. Lambert presided yesterday as temporary chairman.

Traffic was to be detoured over the fill on the easterly side of the bridge over San Francisquito creek at Middlefield road today while the bridge is being demolished. The dirt fill is now practically in on that side.

The contract calls for completion of the culvert job at the creek crossing by October 25. This improvement will give a roadway 42 feet wide in place of the present narrow bridge.

Grocery Chain Head Recommends Desert As Sure 'Cold Cure'

There is always an epidemic of colds this time of year before the rains come. And various prominent persons of this section have found a pleasant "cold cure" which does away with all medicine doping, mustard plasters, hot footbaths and the like.

If you doubt us, ask Charles Crouch of Burlingame, president of Peninsula Stores, Ltd. The genial head of the well-known grocery chain returned this week from Palm Springs, where he vanquished a severe cold in the short space of a few days.

The dry, warm desert air does the trick. Crouch says that when he found Old Man Cold dogging his heels, he just struck out for the desert. And now he is back at his desk, feeling fit as ever.

Formation of the Atherton-Las Lomitas Drainage District was asked Monday of the board of supervisors in a petition filed by Attorney Norman S. Menifee of Redwood City on behalf of 60 or more residents of the Atherton, Menlo Park and Las Lomitas district.

The system was declared an "absolute necessity" to safeguard the interests and health of the district in an accompanying statement from the Las Lomitas Parent-Teacher Association and school teachers and officials of the Las Lomitas School.

Hearing on the application was set by the board for November 7 at 10 o'clock a. m.

Citizen List Picked

Capt. Edward Macauley submitted a list of names of 100 citizens who will be asked to familiarize themselves with the need of the unemployed in this county, and who will recommend what projects are to be undertaken with the $350,000 job bonds if the issue is voted November 8.

The citizens, after their appointment by the board, will be called together at the courthouse on October 13 at 7:30 o'clock, to outline the job relief program.

Charter on Ballot

The proposed San Mateo county charter was ordered placed on the November 8 ballot by the board in adopting an ordinance submitted by Attorneys John W. Coleberd and Arthur H. Redington.

Abandonment of a portion of the Meyn road on the John Meyn ranch, south of Half Moon Bay, which is on the site of the proposed Mackay radio station at Lobitos, was set for hearing by the board for November 7.

If tests now being conducted by the radio station are successful, the company's Daly City station will be moved to Lobitos.

Outsiders Rejected

The supervisors rejected the applications of 16 men who sought appointment to the county highway patrol on the ground that they did not reside in this county.

These applications were filed with the board over a period of a year or more. Only San Mateo county residents will be recommended by the board.

Plan Under Study

A plan of the Social Service Commission to require all persons who wish to secure aid but who have property standing in their names to deed this over to the county was submitted to the board and referred to District Attorney Edmund Scott for his opinion.

Scott advised that the plan would probably "put the county in the real estate business."

Commissioner Named

Errett Sackett was named by the board as the successor to J. W. Herringer as a director of the Belmont Fire District.

Further continuance of the petition of Doyle street, Ravenswood, residents to have that thoroughfare improved was ordered.

A proposed contract for street lights at Crystal Springs road and Skyline boulevard, San Bruno avenue and Bayshore boulevard, and Sneath lane and Skyline boulevard, was continued.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company's bid for lighting the 11 electroliers on Live Oak avenue was approved, the cost to be $2.45 per lamp per month.

Seek Traffic Berths

Applications for appointment to the county traffic bureau were filed by Henry J. Herman and Vernon P. Callaghan, both of Daly City, and Clyde Emerson, South San Francisco.

Mrs. Norton asserts she was employed by Woodhams when showing the house to a prospective buyer on November 1, 1931. She avers the stairs leading to the basement were not properly secured, and slipped, hurling her to the floor below.

The city council held a special meeting Tuesday evening to take up the matter of the fire hazard at the home of J. Hara, Santa Cruz avenue. A legal notice was ordered sent to him to appear on next Tuesday evening and show cause, if any he may have, why the hazard should not be removed. Should he fail to comply with the order of the council, steps will be taken to get rid of the rubbish and old machinery around the dwelling.

James T. O'Keefe appeared before the council stating that he was ordered to removed the old China house in the O'Keefe estate on Glenwood avenue by the fire department and was complying with the request when the work was stopped by the police department that insisted that a permit should be secured before the work of demolition begin. O'Keefe vehemently declared that no such permit was needed in as much as the structure was ordered razed by the city authorities. The matter was held in abeyance.

Mrs. Doris S. Devol, representing the unemployed committee, sent a communication to the council setting forth that outside men were engaged in city work when only local men should be engaged. Mayor Weeden explained that there must be some misunderstanding as only Menlo men were working on the contract awarded J. W. Morey for city improvements last week. No action was taken on the communication.

A beautiful hawthorne tree in front of the residence of Captain Thompson, Menlo avenue, was cut down during the week by a culprit and placed on the walk of the dwelling. The act was simply spite work. The perpetrator should be punished severely. The tree was one of the finest in the locality.

An unusual sight was witnessed in town the other day when a man was seen shearing a horse—that is, removing his coat of hair from the animal. Before the advent of the automobile the business of shearing horses was a big industry. Years ago Peter Devlin, known as "Pete the Clipper," had a monopoly of this trade. He died recently at the age of 85 years. Devlin spent eighteen years of his life in the Relief Home.

Last Tuesday with impressive ceremony Philip Blanchard was installed commander of the local post, American Legion. Thomas White, vice commander and Floyd Beach, adjutant, were also installed. A banquet followed the ceremony. Many legionnaires about the bay were present.

Mrs. Harris Stent is having her home in Atherton razed and in its place will build a larger house. During its construction, Mrs. Stent and her daughters, the Misses Frances and Catherine Stent, will be in San Francisco where they usually spend the winters. Upon completion of the new place, they plan to make their home on the peninsula the year around.

Mrs. Stent and her family returned to California several months ago after a year's absence abroad.

Plans for the year were discussed at a meeting of the Guild of Trinity Episcopal Church, Menlo Park, Monday and will be completed next Monday afternoon, when the organization meets at the Selby lane home of Mrs. Thomas B. Esty at 2 p. m.

TAX DODGERS

Speaking of radio, how long will the tax-levying bodies permit the commercial broadcasting station to put on an unlimited amount of paid advertising tax free, and continue to raise postage to meet a growing deficit? For every bit of publicity that goes out over the air, there is that much less going through the mails. The house that once paid postage for circulars is selling its seeds and overalls by radio. The money that is spent for radio. The money that is no postage on newspapers; postal receipts fall and the public pays 3 cents to mail a letter. Think of this the next time you tune in on the homesick farmhand and are invited to send a dollar for his picture and book of songs. Let radio advertising pay its proper tax.—Free Press, Osage City, Kan.

BATTLE TO END RACING IS OPENED

Influx of Mexican Gamblers Gives City Scare

People shouting and shrieking—Dogs howling and barking—Automobiles tooting their horns and racing their engines—

This discordant note is the picture of the Baden Kennel Club's track at South San Francisco as described by Antonio Molini, South San Francisco gardener, in a complaint brought in superior court in Redwood City Thursday to abate the coursing park as a "public nuisance."

The action was filed on Molini's behalf by Attorney Angelo Scampini, representing the North End Taxpayers' Association, which is leading the fight to close the track and "give the city back to the better element."

Efforts to end the dog racing as quickly as possible are being taken, it is said, because of the closing of the Agua Caliente track in Mexico, and to keep out of the city's borders the gamblers, touts, and undesirables who flourish where betting thrives.

The prayer asks that the defendants be restricted from further operation of the dog track, and that the plaintiff be reimbursed for his costs of suit and "for any additional relief which may be meet and proper in the premises."

A. Devol of the Menlo Park Unemployment Relief Committee by the council last night and was ordered filed.

PRICE BOOST PROMPTS R. C. SALES EVENT

Constantly increasing commodity prices have prompted the retail division of the chamber of commerce to put on the big three-day Good Will sale as an opportunity for the public to buy seasonable fall merchandise at special prices before the further advance of wholesale costs.

"Each week when I go to the wholesaler I find the average of prices higher," said the manager of one of the best known stores of the city. "Some customers think I'm yelling 'wolf' when I tell them that prices are advancing rapidly. Every merchant of the city can verify what I say. The Good Will sale will undoubtedly show prices below anything which customers are likely to encounter again."

It has always been customary to have no sales prior to Christmas buying. The public has responded so well, however, to all the series of local retail events, that the merchants decided upon the three Good Will days as a special recognition of the consumer response to the Redwood City retail campaign.

Incidentally, inquiries continue to come from other communities for details of the successful retail events originated at Redwood City. The latest inquiry came from Red Bluff, and other recent inquiries have come from San Rafael, Palo Alto and Los Gatos.

Now everything's lovely.

IT'S A GOOD IDEA

BUDAPEST.—One business man here, a paint and dye manufacturer, has an idea to end the depression. He has sent letters to all his customers telling them all their debts were forgotten. He explained that customers resent numerous requests for payments of old debts and when placing a new order, go to another concern. He said he preferred to forget their debts rather than lose their business.

"There is not and there never has been the slightest intention on the part of President Hoover or his administration to cancel the debts due by foreign powers to the United States."

This was the statement of John L. McNab, prominent San Francisco attorney. It was McNab who four years ago was selected to make the speech at Kansas City that placed the name of Herbert Hoover before the Republican convention.

"No man in America understands the foreign debt situation better than the president," said McNab. "As one who passed through the terrors of the great war, he learned the capacity of European powers to pay. As a member of the American debt commission, he made a complete survey and study of the capality of European powers to pay.

Has Stated Stand Clearly

"On the question of foreign debts, President Hoover has declared himself repeatedly and in terms so clear that they require no explanation. Not only in his acceptance speech, but in all his public utterances, dating back to his Toledo address of 1922 at the conclusion of the war, he has declared against the cancellation of these debts. In his memorable address at Toledo he said: 'The repudiation of these loans would undermine the whole fabric of good faith. I do not believe any public official either of the United States or any other country, could or should approve their cancellation. Certainly I do not.'

Hearst Press Errs

"But notwithstanding these clear and forthright statements, William Randolph Hearst and his chain of newspapers and the Democratic campaign committee continue their unwarranted campaign to deceive the American people into the belief that the president favors cancellation. Among the leaders voicing Mr. Hearst's campaign is William G. McAdoo, candidate on the Democratic ticket for United States senator. McAdoo and Mr. Hearst are the gentlemen, who over the long distance telephone arranged for the delivery of the California delegation pledged to the candidacy of Mr. Garner to Mr. Roosevelt, and as a result of that trade, secured the vice presidental nomination for Mr. Garner, Mr. Hearst's personal candidate.

"The purpose back of this campaign on the cancellation of foreign debts is perfectly clear. They wish to divert attention from the creditors of these debts.

Democrats Loaned Lavishly

"Who created these foreign debts that are affording Mr. Hearst and Mr. McAdoo so much concern? They were not created by the Republican party. They were brought about by the Democratic party and by William G. McAdoo. William G. McAdoo, as secretary of the treasury, and his predecessor, Carter Glass, loaned these prodigious sums of money to Europe. They brought about this debt situation and the Republican party had no hand in it.

"Mr. McAdoo and his associates loaned to Europe, with a lavish hand, vast sums of money, now amounting to over eleven billions of dollars. A large part of this money was loaned in open violation of the law.

"Again I ask whose debts are they? No Republican administration had any voice in their making. Most of these moneys were paid to Europe without any promise as to the terms of repayment. It remained for the Republican administrations of Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover to fund these debts and settle them into legal business agreements to repay.

Offers Solution

"The only sensible solution of the foreign debt problem is a funding agreement by which the foreign nations agree to pay, to their full capacity, over a period of years. Perhaps they may pay in actual gold and pernaps they may pay in merchandise. But they can only pay to the extent of the money they possess, and America cannot afford to go to war to wring from a foreign people money that it does not possess.

"The administrations of Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover have solved this question by getting foreign nations to agree upon the amount they are to pay, with interest, and these debts are now in course of collection."

RABBI DELIVERS MESSAGE OF HOPE

New Year services were conducted Saturday by Congregation Beth Jacob of Palo Alto and Menlo Park at Guild Hall, Laurel street between Oak Grove and Ravenswood avenue in Menlo Park. Rabbi Kenneth Carlton Zwerin officiated and occupied the pulpit. He spoke of the Babylonian captivity which was a period of great tribulation, when hope was gone and desire was dormant, while only the spirit of the prophet proclaiming the dawn of the new day kept alive the almost dying spark of faith, and said that almost the same conditions are present today.

Rabbi Zwerin said in part: "The year which we have concluded has been one of great hardship for us all. Scarcely one among us has not felt its blow. We have cried aloud, but no Moses has appeared to lead us into the Promised Land of prosperity. Like the Israelites in captivity we need the balm of an Isaiah giving comfort and solace.

"Yet I see in the events of the past year a challenge to the very core of man. The way in which a man responds to adversity is an index to his character."

Mr. Zwerin concluded by pointing out certain signs that he felt marked the dawn of better days and expressed the hope that the new year would bring to all the realization of their highest hopes and greatest aspirations.
